

LOOKING AT THE NEWS WITH COL. HUGH CLARK

It cannot be pleasant for the Governor General to read a dispatch from some city or town which he is to visit in which the news is conveyed to him that the council is divided on the question as to whether any money should be spent in entertaining him. It would be far better not to entertain His Excellency at all than to have any public discussion about the cost. I imagine he would prefer to have no public welcome rather than to know that his visit had occasioned a dispute as to whether public money should be spent in doing him the honors due to the representative of His Majesty in Canada.

Senator James Mackay had really no complaint against the executive of the Railway Trainmen which Canadian trainmen should worry about. He was the Canadian Vice President of the International Union, a position he should have given up when he became a Senator. In his capacity as Speakerman for railways, he is bound to meet himself in his capacity as a Senator. He also should be his fellow Senator in the chamber or in committee and not wonder as to whether he was speaking or acting in one capacity or the other. The executive meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, dismissed him, thus doing what he should have done voluntarily. They expected too much of him, no doubt, but when a Senator, he would have greater influence. They expected him to do or to prevent what neither he nor anyone else in the same position could do or prevent.

Near where we live and move and have our being, a man recently shot and killed his wife, then shot and killed himself. That afternoon, Saturday the evening newspapers had a column and a half about it. On Monday the morning newspapers had a half column about it. It was a local sensation for several days. Now the people are talking about other things, the dry weather, poor crops, fall fairs, the N.R.A., the next world series of ball games, and the prospects next winter of our local hockey team.

Twenty years ago, any time before the war, it would be quite a tremendous sensation and would have been talked about for years in this community. Why the change? Had the war with its daily output of casualties, must our sense of horror at the taking of human life? Has the fact that men were slain by the thousands in these four years diminished the value of human life in public estimation?

We have a picture of Henry Ford knocking down to the N.R.A. and a Michigan paper. So has General Hugh Johnson. He took it with his role also.

A clergyman deplures that we have not now the spirit of the martyrs. It is all right to have spirit, but no one wants martyrs or martyrdom. Several hundred years ago there were many martyrs in England and Scotland but that was because there was then another spirit as well—that of intemperance and persecution. It required the spirit of the martyrs to kill the spirit of the persecutors. Both were equally sincere and strong-bred.

Canada High (Canada) made good in the 100 yd. This is the 100 yd. relay. The executive committee of the United Farmers of Alberta, assembled in the city of Calgary, resulting in the fact that the executive committee charge had been laid against Premier Brundage, takes this immediate opportunity of declaring unimpaired the executive committee in Mr Brundage, and of emphatically affirming our faith in him as a man of the highest integrity and personal honor.

In view of the fact that the matter is now before the courts, the executive refrains from commenting at this time upon the forces, and motives which he believed the charges, but we confidently affirm that Mr Brundage will be able to vindicate himself fully and that the real nature of these charges and motives will be clear to the world.

The funeral of Miss Trent took place at 10 o'clock Monday morning from Chase in a funeral home. J P Winter, officiating. Burial in Strathmore Cemetery.

A very successful tea was held in the Sample Room of the King Edward Hotel Saturday last by the Ladies of the United Church. The tea was in honor of the Tea Room crew. Medallions, bracelets, McGee, Dower and Way, while Mrs Gray and Mrs Nelson also gave. The tea was a success. A number of the young girls waited on the flower decked tables and a pleasant meal enjoyed by the many who dropped in for a cup of tea.

SOUTHERN ALBERTA PIONEER WHEAT CHAMPION

Since its recovery of the world wheat championship at the world grain convention at Regina this summer, the Strathmore Wheat Club has won the $2,000 award for the finest sample of hard red spring wheat among competitors from many countries. Southern Alberta has discovered that it had a grain champion 10 years ago which incidentally records the fact that the Strathmore Wheat Club has been awarded the fact that A.M. Morden, a pioneer farmer in the Pioneer Wheat Club, has won the world wheat championship in wheat, oats and barley at the world fair at Chicago in 1893. The board of judges awarded the farmer medal for specific merit as follows: Wheat for very hard grain, pure and of good color, won on April 25, harvested on August 20, yield 12 1/2 bushels per acre, weight 49 1/2 lbs. No irrigation, grown on fallow land. For oats, won on April 29, harvested on August 12, yield 85 bushels per acre, weight 49 1/2 lbs. For barley, very fine quality, won on May 6, harvested on August 10, weight 54 1/2 lbs. No irrigation, grown on fallow land. This is a very fine record.

ALBERTA'S BUTTER YEAR

The present year gives promise of creating a record for the production of butter in Alberta. The previous record year in the province was 1931, when nearly 23 million lbs were produced. For the first eight months of this year the production has been 18,707,000 lbs compared with 17,175,700 lbs for the same period in the record year of 1931. It is a considerable export of Alberta butter to Old Country markets has been under way, amounting to about 672,000 lbs.

WHAT IS TO BE THE FATE OF C.P.R. LAND CONTRACT HOLDERS

(By Bert Huffman)

The visit last week of E.W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R. to the C.P.R. camp a while elephant irrigation system in the eastern section of its land, the elephant irrigation, with a view to the future of the land, the hope that something would be done by the company.

This is the trouble to meet the conditions of an impossible land contract is no fault of the settler. It is the fault of the explanation system under which we live.

Owing to the uncertainty of its future of land and home not one C.P.R. settler in ten is a permanent home maker. He does not know what day is to be evicted, and so lives in dread, dismay, uncertainty and heart-breaking fear of the future.

This is a true and accurate picture of the C.P.R. irrigation block farm. He lives in constant fear and cannot produce his best work like a homestead settler in his farm.

In its efforts to collect money from settlers during the past two or three years.

FEEDING OF BEEF CATTLE

It is expected that some 500 head of beef cattle will be fed this winter from the former farmer-owned system which is to be continued for its fourth year, under the supervision of the provincial department of agriculture. John Wilson, who has been supervising the feeding arrangements in the Lethbridge district, has been re-engaged by the department for the work and his territory is being extended to as far north as Red Deer.

NO CHANCE FOR ESCAPE

As it was the boy's first offense the Magistrate let him off, but told him never to yield to temptation again, adding: "You should have flown from the Evil Eye."

TO LISTEN ONLY

BEHIND THE TIMES

Whereas Old Bill has been, I have not seen him for months.

A LONG DETOUR

Very stout man the woman material who had lunched into him? Couldn't get out? This is an estimation you have come round me?

years the company's land department has offered to give a settler two dollars credit on his contract for every acre of land he has acquired on part of the company that the system is one hundred per cent impossible, one hundred per cent wrong, one hundred per cent exploitation.

Last year the company tried to coerce farmers in various ways to pay the taxes on their farms and deliver to the company one acre of crops in the elevator. This barren attempt to create a system of extortion, comparable to the American, clearly failed. This year the same officials tried to get only one fourth of the crop delivered and the farmer pay all taxes.

People who brought their life savings into this country and invested in a future home, refuse to be coerced into such terms, tenants and slaves overnight.

In hundreds of instances throughout the irrigation block, the company has been making a fortune and paying to the settler the original price of the land on which settlers have been paying the excessive interest.

This frank admission that the company had been wrongfully extorting excessive charges was not accompanied by any suggestion of redress or any suggestion that the company was unjustly permitted to pay a smaller sum in future, under certain impossible conditions.

All these facts must be known to the public in order that a just understanding of conditions in the C.P.R. land block may be had. People residing outside of and away from C.P.R. land do not know the handicaps under which thousands of agricultural settlers have absolutely wasted their lives in trying to make a future home on C.P.R. lands. Something drastic must be done if a settlement on these lands is to continue.

President Beatty of the C.P.R. and Premier Bennett are heartily in favor of another farmer-owned assisted farm immigration. We deplored about five thousand people last year to the old country and another five thousand people returned to the old country voluntarily, so why talk about someone again to the Canadian people?

But here is the germ and kernel of this immigration scheme of Mr. Beatty: If he can induce various thousands of immigrants to come to Canada, his company will reap a rich transportation harvest, and in addition, it will fill up western Canada with a large number of people, a horde of people six thousand miles from home, which a horde of people will be used as a threat to prevent land reform.

With the country overrunning with pauper farmers and farm laborers, the C.P.R. can then say to its Canadian settlers who are demanding just conditions, "Well, if you don't like it, get off the land; here are ten pauper families waiting to rent your farms."

Rather than attempt such a crime against Canadian settlers who have made this a rich country during the last quarter of a century, the C.P.R. would be millions of actual cash in hand, it will give every C.P.R. land contract holder a certain title to his land of his own. Now, old man, here is your permanent home; go in and produce all the livestock, grain and other farm commodities possible for me to haul to market and forget your fears for the future.

Nothing must be done to the very rare future of reality, this damnable pressure of fear, uncertainty, dismay which is destroying the mind and soul of the settler. I would make these gift titles absolutely non-transferable, but as long as one member of a settler family wanted to occupy a C.P.R. land, one hundred years hence, he should be entitled to its use and be responsible for all taxes and rates.

SPORT NOTES

PAYS TRIBUTE TO JAKE GAUDAUER

The sports Editor of the Orillia Packet and Times makes the following interesting comment regarding the respective merits of Jake Gaudaur and Bobby Pearce:

In Toronto they have for so many years had a Ned Hanlan complex that when any mention of old time men's men and champions is made the sports writers get as far as Hanlan and then become forgetful. It's about time that some of the credit that belongs to Orillia's great champion should be forthcoming. True enough, the fastest of all men's (Gaudaur) has always avoided the limelight. Then again he doesn't happen to be a Torontonian.

Ned Hanlan was a great racing man; one of the greatest of them all. Jake Gaudaur was a great rowing man, and after forty years increased for three miles has never been seriously threatened. There aren't many records in the annals of sport that have stood for forty years. Try and name a record that has stood for but that long.

Give a lot of credit to Ned Hanlan as a master craftsman, but in doing that don't overlook the fact that Jake Gaudaur won from Hanlan on several occasions, and is undoubtedly holder of the world's record for three miles with a turn—19 minutes 1.12 seconds.

Bob Pearce is the greatest outdoorsman developed in the past 25 years. He ranks with the best of all time, and is an athlete of whom Australia can well be proud. But to claim even as a grand sculler as Pearce to be great or of them all is so much poppycock. He won his three mile race over a course one mile in length, which means that he had two turns to make. Gaudaur figure a turn to require from 10 to 15 seconds. Pearce's time for the race was 19 minutes 25.2 seconds.

But Jake Gaudaur's time in 1893 was 19 minutes and 6 seconds, and he reduced that over the same course at Austin, Texas, when on May 17, 1891, he rowed the three miles in 19 minutes 1.12 seconds. This was in a race with only one turn. Grant that Pearce was handicapped to the extent of even 15 seconds by the extra turn in last Friday's race and his mark is still 15 seconds slower than Gaudaur's world record time.

NO BIG LEAGUE FOR ADAM

—M—
 Millville, N. J.—Because his mother rebelled at the thought of having a big league pitcher in the family, Adam Lloyd, Jr. is to become a manual training teacher when he grows up.

The youngster, who is 15 years old, weighs 200 pounds and stands almost six feet tall, has reached that decision because his mother, Mrs. Gella Lloyd, forbids him to join the Philadelphia Athletics.

Just before the Mackmen left on their last swing around the western circuit of the American league, Connie Mack, manager of the A's told him to report in September to spend the remainder of the season with the big league club. At the end of that time a contract would likely be forthcoming. Adam was told, and he would go south with the Mackmen next spring. Adam's mother thought the matter over. She and her husband operate a small grocery store on Vine Street, Millville. Neither were ever blessed with fortune. A good big league big money.

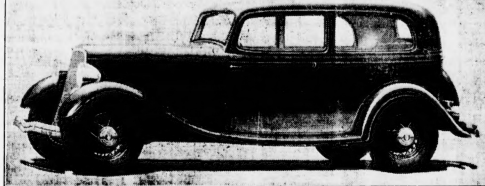

To help the family financially, Adam sells ice cream from a truck through the town. Mrs. Lloyd talked it over with her husband. Having Adam home with them would be an asset. Away, he was lost entirely. He still had two more years of high school to finish, and perhaps some normal school education was required before he could qualify as a teacher of manual training.

Adam, you're not going to join the Philadelphia team, was the final decision of Mrs. Lloyd. You're going to stay right here in Millville and finish your schooling. Your father and I have worked hard to get you an education.

This baseball idea, concluded Mrs. Lloyd, is a lot of foolishness for a boy as young as you. Besides, you're healthful, not used to being away from home for long and the big city might teach you bad habits. No sir, you're not going into baseball now.

And that settled Adam and the Athletics.

Evidently wishing to settle the controversy that ensued in the newspaper.

VEGETABLES FOR DROUGHT AREA

Cooperative arrangements for the supply of potatoes and other vegetables this winter to be made in the drought stricken areas in the north-eastern part of the province, have been completed between the provincial department of agriculture, the railways and the municipalities concerned. Supplies of potatoes are being secured by the department at Edmonton, loaded on cars to bulk direct from the fields. These supplies are being transported entirely free of freight cost by the railways to the nearest points in the dry areas, from where they will be distributed through the municipal secretaries to families who come for them to the shipping points, at the same rate at which they were secured by the department at Edmonton. The entire ar-

Here and There

Taken as a whole the British West Indies as a market for Canadian products, ranked fourth last July with $150,000, with Newfoundland coming next.

Increasing prospects in Canada and the United States is seen in the early arrival in the Dominion of United States Christmas tree buyers. They are particularly busy in the Maritime where the demand is especially heavy.

Edward C. Carter, of New York, traveler and publicist, has been chosen to fill the newly created post of secretary-general of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which has just completed its fifth biennial conference at the Banff Springs Hotel.

Eleven happy boys took the eleventh annual "Run in Alaska" tour this year under the leadership of George E. Buchanan, of Detroit. Their trip included a stop at the Banff Springs Hotel where the boys stayed until they returned for Lake Louise.

Traffic earnings of the Canadian railways for July show an aggregate gain of nearly a million dollars as compared with July, 1932, the best showing in many months on similar comparisons.

Recent earnings of the Canadian Pacific account for $172,000 of this gain during the month.

"He got you that time," said Mrs. Montana Norman to the president of the Bank of England, when they dined recently at the Banff Springs Hotel. The purpose of the visit is a mystery, not even a holiday being admitted by the distinguished visitor.

John Nelson, president of Rotary International, sailed recently by Empress of Britain on his way to Louisiana where the second European regional conference of the worldwide organization was held this month. He stated that Rotary had 150,000 members in 209 clubs.

"If from the conference, speeches and exhibitions at the World's Grain Exhibition at Regina we can derive even one suggestion of importance to agriculturalists, the show will be considered a success," said E. S. McKory, manager, United Grain Growers' office in Calgary, in a recent address at the Palliser Hotel in that city.
